Christy List, a long-time resident of Gahanna and a 1989 graduate of Gahanna Lincoln High School (GLHS) has been involved with Gahanna-Jefferson Public Schools for many years. "I didn't care much about school at the time but I had great teachers in the district that helped me get through school," said List. Once her daughters started school she wanted to give back to the district that had given her so much.

Christy could be seen in the elementary school classrooms, the middle school store, running various school building fundraising events and organizing registration for Gahanna Lincoln High School.

"No matter what capacity, under her leadership and direction, the PTA flourished and supported the children, teachers and parents in the High Point Community," said Kathleen Erhard, High Point Principal.

One of Christy's biggest contributions to the school district was her involvement with the Gahanna-Jefferson Education Foundation. For many years Christy was the silent auction chair for the big fundraising event, the Gahanna Gala. Christy recruited volunteers, solicited auction items, managed corporate tables, secured printing services and allowed her home to serve as the site to gather and process all auction items. Because of her contributions to GJEF thousands of dollars were raised to support student initiatives across the district.

"Christy List has what simply can be described as having an amazing heart for all of our kids in our schools as well as the Gahanna community," said Tim Gagliardo, Assistant Principal at Gahanna Lincoln High School.

Besides her volunteer work, Christy and her husband Blair both own their own businesses in Central Ohio.

When she is not working or volunteering she enjoys traveling with her family; husband Blair, daughters Callie and Kara and son-in-law Collin.
