

Mad as a March Hare...

All scissors are NOT created equal!
Most sewers have appear crazed to their families on this issue at one time or other.
One of my girls even cut WIRE with mine! (no worries...she is still alive and still in the will) ☺

HAPPY MARCH!

Also, a big thank you to all who volunteered to sit and chat with passersby at our booth.

As always, if you know that someone is not getting the newsletter, let me know. You may want to ask them to check two things first though. 1) is their existing email inbox full? 2) did their email server bounce this address to the "spam" folder? (they may be getting it, but it is going to the spam folder rather than their inbox) 3) did they change their email address and not update it? ( I will be happy to update it)

I will double check to make sure that I did not misspell it or that it is a .net instead of a .com.

Thanks for being so helpful with this.

Have a great March! And I hope you are able to enjoy the Expo.

Sew Excited!
