

NEWS RELEASE

Healthcare Organizations, First Responders, Employers and Government Agencies can now get point of care COVID-19 test kits.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, (Orlando, FL) For the first time in history, the FDA has allowed the distribution of these rapid COVID-19 Coronavirus kits under the FDA Emergency Use Authorization. Healthcare workers, first responders, and private employers can receive the point of care tests. These tests must be administered by a healthcare professional, such as phlebotomist, medical assistant, or other medically trained personnel. Workplace Screening Intelligence is now making these tests available.

A Healthcare professional will know in a matter of 10 to 15 minutes if the patient is positive for the Covid-19 virus and help to stop the spread of the virus. These tests can be done by whole blood, serum or plasma. Workplace Screening Intelligence also offers a lab based Upper Respiratory Panel done by Real Time Polymerase Chain Reaction (PCR Technology). Molecular Saliva as an alternate to Nasopharyngeal Swab and lab based Antibody test for IgM (Recent Infection), IgA (More Recent Infection) and IgG (Past Exposure).

“We are happy to be one of the local distributors of these rapid COVID-19 tests,” said Phil Dubois, CEO of Workplace Screening Intelligence. He is an expert in the field of employee screening, the various means of testing, federal and state testing laws, company policy development, risk remediation as well as all aspects of alcohol testing.

“We are extremely proud to be able to empower Healthcare Institutions, Government Agencies and Employers to help squash the growth curve with COVID-19 Coronavirus Screening,” said Dubois.
