Ministering to others in prayer and their faith brighten up their day and brings them closer to God. I believe my commitment to God, faith, my organization, my church, community and my family has helped me to become a better leader. Leadership is a common dominator to which others tend to follow, and when they see this, it inspires them to do the same. Others will ask how you do so much, it's not me, it's the direction in which God is leading me in, and I follow.
