Restaurant Murynaiv

Having a conversation with Marquisa the cat.
I think real cat owners can talk to their pets and understand.
I once had a serious conversation with my cat Marquise.

- Marquise, lately you've become so nervous and worried. What happened? Tell me, because we never kept secrets from each other.
 - Dad Slava, you know my mental abilities, you taught me to work on the computer.
 - I know and have long guessed that in my absence you read all my posts on Facebook.
 - Yes, I read and understand that there is a war now and many people leave and abandon their pets, but we will not survive without you.
 - If you read carefully, you should have read my answer too. I'm not going to leave anywhere and I won't leave you and homeless visitors of the Murnyav restaurant. We lived together and, if destined, we will die together.
- I've read, but I'm worried about you, we, cats and kittens, do not live long, but we know how to love and care for our good owners. We want you to live.

(Editor's Note)

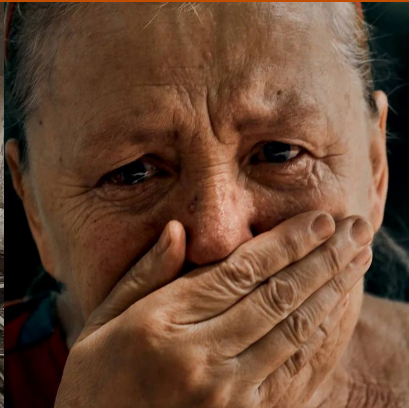

Vyacheslav Prosyanko, lives in a very, very, dangerous city in the war zone, Eastern Ukraine. His wife began a mission on her own to feed the many stray/abandoned cats. After her passing her husband vowed to continue the work of, "The Restaurant Murynaiv". He posts his insights almost daily. He is an amazing soul and hope one day to publish his work. Pray for him and his customers.

Let us celebrate with feasting - and with generous hearts.

She was shot in the back, escaping her home.

Please consider, pray, give, help, anything, please.

Thank you Jesus for all your

We Need You Now More Than Ever!

Our trip to Krakow, Poland was a time of revelation. For months we had been praying for the refugees and those still in Ukraine as the war rages on. But with boots on the ground we met so many (up to 300,000 Ukrainian refugees in Krakow alone), with heartbreaking stories. One woman we prayed for had been escaping with her daughter and was shot in the back by a Russian soldier. She survived, but is in pain. With winter coming soon the Russians are bombing the utilities in hopes of freezing Ukraine into submission. We need your help! The war is still raging!

- ⇒ Funds for food, medicine, wood for heat, warm clothes
- ⇒ Prayers for the people and peace
 - ⇒ Get the word out
 - ⇒ Pray Big, Pray Bold!
